Teenager Problems

It is not easy to be a teenager. Teenagers are young people between 13 and 19 years old. During those years, teenagers are usually in high school. They worry _____ 26 _____ many things, such as their grades, looks, and getting along with their classmates. For example, when students come to a new class, they want to fit in the group. They want to make friends and become popular.

Students may have many pressures. Pressure will become anxiety when they do not deal with pressure well. In a survey in America, most of the teenagers have anxiety problems. When they have anxiety, they feel nervous and upset. _____ 27 _____ anxiety is bad for anyone. Most of students' anxiety comes from schoolwork. About 50% of them say they feel pressure to get good grades. 20% of the teenagers feel peer pressure. They are afraid of having no friends. About 20% say they have bullying problems. Bullies will treat them badly, make fun of them and even hurt them sometimes. Other teenagers feel pressure to look good.

Knowing their problems is the first step to help them. Parents and teachers should listen to their worries and always be there _____ 28 _____ they need help.

We know both Americans and English people speak English. But is English the same in the two countries? English people went to America a long time ago. They took their language with them to America. However, both American and British English have changed over time. There are so many differences between the two kinds of English. Sometimes people may not fully understand the differences of the two. There are different spellings, different words for the same thing and even different sounds.

First, some words have different spellings. In America, "-our" becomes "-or." For example, in America, there are seven "colors" in a rainbow. In the U.K., there are seven "colours." Other examples are neighbour, favourite, and behaviour. In America, "-re" becomes "-er." People go to the movie "theatre" in the U.K., but they go to the "theater" in the U.S.

Besides, they use different words for the same thing in the two countries. For example, American eat “French fries,” but English people eat “chips.” Americans eat “cookies,” but English people eat “biscuits.” Americans play “soccer,” but English people play “football.” Americans take the “subway,” but English people take the “underground.”

American English and British English also sound differently. If you do not listen to British English often, you may have problems understanding it. For example, English people do not usually say “r” after vowels. Vowels are usually a, e, i, o, and u. Therefore, you don’t say “r” in “hard, mother, father, and water.” When you know the differences, it can help you understand British English more.

35. What is the main idea of the reading?

- (A) American English is better than British English.
- (B) English is the most important language in the world.
- (C) The difference between American and British English.
- (D) It is not easy to learn English.

36. Which is NOT right in the form?

(A)

British English	American English
humor	humour

(B)

British English	American English
litre	liter

(C)

British English	American English
football	soccer

(D)

British English	American English
underground	subway

37. What’s the organizational order (結構順序) of the reading?

※introduction 介紹

- (A) Introduction → Different words → Different sounds → Different spellings
- (B) Introduction → Different spellings → Different words → Different sounds
- (C) Introduction → Different sounds → Different spellings → Different words
- (D) Introduction → Different words → Different spellings → Different sounds

Dear Micky,

I have been under a lot of stress. I can hardly fall asleep at night because I do not know which kind of school I should go to: a high school or a vocational school. You know how I love cooking and want to be a cook, don’t you? I asked my parents if I could go to a vocational school, but they did not want me to. They told me that I won’t make it if I go to a vocational school. Should I follow my heart or to do what my parents want me to do?

Dear Jenny,

No wonder you look so tired and unhappy. Maybe talk to your parents and tell them that there are also many successful people that graduated from vocational schools like Andre Chiang. He did not go to high school, but he is a world-famous cook! Going to a vocational school may be a good choice for you because you can take useful lessons and learn many skills that will help you to be a cook in the future. Talk with your parents, and help them understand what you really want! This poem helps me, and maybe it will help you, too! Good luck!

*I will follow it
Since it will always show me the way.
And standing by it can always make me brave.
Nothing will make me fear.
I will follow it
Since it will never ever do me wrong.
And listening to it will always makes me feel safe.
Nothing will keep me away.*

38. What does that mean?

- (A) Useful lessons and skills. (B) Going to high schools.
(C) Having a good choice. (D) Being a good cook.

39. Why did Jenny write a letter to Micky?

- (A) She is too tired to fall asleep. (B) The decision is too hard to make.
(C) The lesson is too hard to take. (D) She is too weak get up.

40. What may it mean in the poem?

- (A) The poem Micky wrote. (B) The thing makes people fear.
(C) The vocational high school. (D) The voice inside my heart.

Nick: Let's watch The Secretary tonight. I want to see why she is going to China. I think it is because they are going to take over that other company. They need her to be sneaky and steal some secrets.

Theresa: OK, but I also want to watch Sunny Days. It's my favorite. I never miss a show.

Nick: We can't watch that; it's on at the same time as The Secretary. But we can watch Sunny Days later when they play it again.

Theresa: Sure, we can watch Sunny Days later. What about North, South, East, West? Do you want to watch that? My classmate said the show was quite funny. I am positive you'll love it.

Nick: No, thanks. I do not really care for that type of show. I am a huge fan of Night Mask, and tonight is very important we find out who Night Mask's father is!
